Renovate and Celebrate

A second collection will be taken during all the masses for our campaign to maintain the appearances of our churches and grounds. Thanks to your generosity over time, we have been able to complete projects that have upgraded and enhanced our beloved structures. In the short time that Renovate and Celebrate has been in existence we have already undertaken so many projects like refinishing the pews, replacing the air vents, as well as new energy efficient lighting, to name a few. Your monthly sacrificial offerings have allowed these upgrades to take place without having to break the budget. Together we can continue to do what is necessary to keep our houses of worship from deteriorating. God bless you and your loved ones during this holy period and throughout the year.

Renovar y Celebrar

Este fin de semana tomaremos una segunda colecta durante todas las Misas para nuestra campaña para mantener la apariencia de nuestras Iglesias y los campos. Gracias a su generosidad sobre tiempo, ha sido posible completar proyectos que han modernizado y mejorado nuestras queridas estructuras. En el corto tiempo que Renovar y Celebrar ha estado en existencia hemos emprendido varios proyectos, como la renovación de las bancas, el re-emplazar las rejillas de ventilación en el piso, y un nuevo sistema de luz de bajo consumo, para mencionar algunas. Sus ofrendas sacrificiales han permitido completar estas mejoras sin cambiar el presupuesto. Juntos podemos hacer lo que sea necesario para evitar que nuestras casas de adoración se deterioren. Dios los bendiga a ustedes y a sus seres queridos durante este tiempo santo y a través de todo el año.

Dear Friends,

On this Palm Sunday, the beginning of Holy Week, we have both themes of triumph and tragedy: triumph because of the victorious entrance of Jesus into Jerusalem; tragedy because with this triumphant entrance Jesus' passion begins. We have been celebrating Holy Week for over two thousand years and perhaps after so many years we have lost touch with the ridiculousness, radicalness and sublime meaning of these events for us today. How much more ridiculous can it be that our God hangs from a cross, humiliated and killed like the worst of criminals? This is our God in whom we place not only our trust and hope, but in whom we hang our lives! Do you see how ridiculous this seems to be? Yet, it is in and through this ridiculous image to the world that God brings about a new creation.

Then we have the radical initiative that God took in becoming one with us. What courage and boldness in choosing to live the vulnerability and weakness of our human condition to the point of death! As Paul says, "he emptied himself, taking the form of a slave...becoming obedient to the point of death, even death on a cross." What was God thinking? What was he hoping to accomplish? What motivated Jesus was the love that poured out of his relationship with God; what moved him was solidarity with the human condition. And perhaps the greatest attribute that we can say about Jesus is that he saw himself in us, in our vulnerability and weakness. Jesus made us his neighbor and in doing so he gave his very self so that we might have life, and life to the fullest.

And how more sublime can it get than to find that in emptying himself and not seeking equality with God he finds the hidden treasure, the pearl of great value, the glory of the God who sent him. "Because of this, God greatly exalted him and bestowed on him the name which is above every name." Weakness and vulnerability are transformed into strength and courage. Emptying oneself leads to abundance and death to new life. What kind of sublime reality is this? Mystics call this emptying process detachment. Detachment is not the same as indifference. Detachment is rooted in agape love: a love that seeks only the good of the other, for the other's sake. In agape love one loves because one is capable and willing to love whether the other appreciates it or not, whether the other reciprocates or not. Can you see yourself in the other and make the other your neighbor and be willing to give of yourself for the sake of that neighbor? This is what Jesus models for us. In emptying himself he finds himself immersed in God; in dying he is raised to new life.

Fr. Tony Diaz, CMF
Pastor

Queridos Amigos,

En este Domingo de Ramos, el comienzo de Semana Santa, tenemos los dos temas de triunfo y tragedia: triunfo por la entrada victoriosa de Jesús a Jerusalén; tragedia porque con esta entrada triunfal Jesús comienza su pasión. La iglesia lleva más de dos mil años celebrando Semana Santa y quizás con el tiempo hemos perdido el sentido de lo ridículo, radical y sublime de lo que celebramos. ¿Qué más ridículo puede ser que nuestro Dios cuelga de una cruz, humillado y puesto a muerte, peor que un criminal? ¿Este es nuestro Dios en quien no solamente ponemos nuestra fe y esperanza, sino con quien nos jugamos la vida misma! ¿No vez lo ridículo de esto? Sin embargo, en y por medio de este acto ridículo para el mundo, Dios lleva a cabo una nueva creación.

Después tenemos la radical iniciativa de Dios al hacerse uno con nosotros. ¿Qué valor y audacia en optar por vivir la vulnerabilidad y flaqueza de nuestra condición humana hasta el punto de la muerte! Como lo dice la segunda lectura misma, "se anonado a si mismo tomando la condición de siervo...por obediencia aceptó incluso la muerte, y una muerte de cruz." ¿En qué pensaba Dios? ¿Qué espera realizar? Lo que motivó a Jesús fue el amor que brotaba de su relación con Dios; lo que lo impulsaba era su solidaridad con la condición humana. Y quizás lo más profundo y bello que podemos decir de Jesús es que se vio El mismo en el rostro humano, en nuestra vulnerabilidad y flaqueza. Jesús nos hace su prójimo y por medio de esta identificación opta por darse a sí mismo para que tengamos vida, y vida en abundancia.

Y qué más sublime puede ser que el anonadarse a sí mismo y no igualarse a Dios encuentra el tesoro escondido, la perla de gran valor, la gloria del Dios que lo envía. "Por eso Dios lo exaltó sobre todas las cosas y le otorgó el nombre que está sobre todo nombre." Flaqueza y vulnerabilidad son transformadas en valor y poder. El vaciarse y anonadarse lo lleva a la abundancia y la muerte a la nueva vida. ¿Qué tipo de realidad sublime es esta? Los místicos llaman este proceso de anonadamiento vaciarse de sí mismo desapego. Desapego no es lo mismo que indiferente. El desapego es vivir en el amor ágape: el tipo de amor que busca solamente el bien del otro. En el amor ágape uno ama porque tiene la capacidad y el deseo de amar aun cuando el otro/a lo aprecie o no, aun cuando el otro/a corresponda o no. ¿Puedes verte en el otro, y hacer del otro tu prójimo y darte a ti mismo por tal prójimo? Esto es lo que Jesús mismo modela en su propia vida. En su anonadamiento Jesús se encuentra totalmente identificado con Dios; en su muerte resucita a la nueva vida.

FAITH FORMATION
A JOURNEY FOR LIFE

FAITH FORMATION CORNER – THOUGHTS TO PONDER, WAYS TO LIVE

“Contemplation is a gaze of faith, fixed on Jesus.” (CCC 2715)

FAITH MAKES JESUS THE FOCUS OF LIFE AND PRAYER

Today is Palm Sunday, let us turn our focus, as the first followers of Jesus did, to Jesus himself. Not knowing the human Jesus as those first followers did, we have to rely on our faith, and our faith makes Jesus the focus of our life and our prayers. And Jesus reveals everything: the truth about God, about humanity, and about God's plan of love for humanity. Jesus, Himself, is the pearl of great price, the treasure hidden in a field. We would sell everything to possess Him (Mt 13:44-46). When faith contemplates Him, we are aware of being in possession of our entire meaning, purpose, and happiness. At this point, prayer becomes a simple gaze of faith, fired by love. All that we have learned about our faith, celebrated in the sacraments, lived and prayed as His disciples – all of this is present in Him. By faith we are conscious of, and trust, that we are in the presence of the pure and Holy One. By faith we know that His nature is love, and that therefore He is making a gift of Himself to us, right here, right now. By faith, we can consent to being loved, because by faith we know what His love means. In His loving look upon us and our loving look upon Him, everything that faith can say is said. The gaze of faith is an exchange of love, our participation in the “eternal exchange of love” (CCC 221). Faith makes that exchange of gazes possible. The love is always there, but the look, the knowing is what comes from faith.
